

2008 Inductee

CARLTON C. MORRIS II

When Carlton hits the floor, the lights get brighter. Since he was eight years old, he has trained to become the best! Carlton is a Special Olympian who has "Claim to Fame" above and beyond. He has competed in local, area, state, national and world games. Carlton has won enough gold medals that it takes a wheelbarrow to carry them around. He was special enough that he carried the torch for the 2000 Special Olympics Summer games in Raleigh. Carlton was selected to compete in the 2006 Special Olympics National Games in Ames, Iowa, competing in Level III in all six events in Men's Gymnastics. He won five Gold medals, one Silver and one Bronze, plus a Gold medal for best all around. He has the honor to have been the first Special Olympic athlete in history to be inducted into the Men's NC Gymnastics Hall of Fame. He will be featured in Sports Illustrated Magazine (Faces in the Community). His enthusiasm is outstanding!
